

Coach Justin Redpath is a dedicated and experienced coach currently serving on the Pennsylvania West Olympic Development Program staff. A former player and collegiate official who refereed Division I, II, and III matches across the tri-state area, he brings a unique perspective on game management and decision-making under pressure that he now imparts to his players.

He holds a USSF C License and TOVO Diploma and has been personally mentored by renowned international and collegiate coaches Randy and Ben Waldrum.

Most recently, during the 2024-2025 season, Coach Redpath led his 2015 boys team at Century United to the prestigious Dallas Cup. That same group finished atop the Great Lakes Alliance (GLA) NPL regular-season standings and captured the regional playoff championship. His teams have also captured titles at high-level events such as Kings Hammer Blue Chip Juniors, among others.

He currently serves as head coach of Century United's North Park 2015 and 2017 Platinum boys teams and as assistant coach for the 2014 Platinum boys.

Known for a progressive, player-centered approach rooted in U.S. Soccer principles and TOVO methodology, he develops technical excellence, tactical intelligence, and leadership while keeping joy at the heart of the game.

Above all, Coach Redpath believes the best players are developed when courage, creativity, and cognition are valued just as much as athleticism.

Outside of coaching, Justin enjoys time with his family and remains actively involved in growing soccer in the Greater Pittsburgh area.
